St. Louis, July 2.—Washington won the last game of the series with St. Louis to-day with hardly an effort. Esper was batted so hard that Glipatrick was put in the box after the fourth inning. The change did no good. The Browns were unfortunate and played badly besides. The score: Pittsburgs Again Beaton by the Brooklyne Cincinnatie Victorious Over the Quakers

OHICAGO, July 2.-It was a hot game all the way through, and the New Yorks won by su-perior play. Meekin was selected to do the swirling for the visiters, and he had his opponents guessing most of the time. The home is almost hopelessly crippled. Connor was added to the hospital list to-day on account of a sunstroke, which prevented his playing, and it will probably keep him the game for some time. Callahan pitched for Chicago and did good work, but the team behind himbroke badly at critical times. Dahlen was put out of the game. The runs balls to Van Haltren, a single by Tiernan and an error by Isbeil. The Orphans made three in this inning on a base on balls to Everitt, singles by Ryan and Dahlen and a three-bagger by McCormick. Donahue scored in the fourth on his base on balls and a double by Callahan. Gleason scored in the sixth on his own single, a single by Hartman and Dahlen's error. In the seventh four New Yorkers scored as follows: Singles by Van Haltren, Tiernan and Joyce; a base on balls to Davis, followed by a single by Gleason. Chicago tled the score in the ninth on singles by Chance and Everitt and Ryan's two-bagger. In the thirteenth, New York won the game on a single by Van Haltren, a base on balls to Tiernan, followed by singles by Joyce and Davis. Attendance, 5,500. The score:

PITTSBURG, June 2.-Brooklyn won another game from Pittsburg after a flerce fight. After the third inning, which ended with the score even, Rhines and Kennedy settled down to fine work. Both received good support, and sensational catches of Tannehill and Griffin were cheered by the enthusiastic but impartial growd. Shindle scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth inning when he hit to the left field fence for three bases and crossed the plate on Ryan's fly to Tannehill. In the last inning Griffin hit for two bases, but a splendid throw caught him at third, when he tried to advance on Jones's fly to Donovan. Kennedy was wild in the eighth and ninth, and the finish was exciting. After two were out in the last half of the ninth Donovan singled, stole second and went to third on Ryan's bad throw. O'Brien drew a base on balls and also stole second, but Gray was out at first. The score:

Yale's baseball nine, which won the series from Princeton a short time ago, captured the leciding game of the series with Harvard at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon. The result was practically a foregone conclusion in view of the fact that Yale shut out Harvard at New Haven the other day. To the masterly pitching of Greenway and a certain element of luck Yale's victory yesterday was chiefly due. The wearers of the blue, under the wing of "Dutch" Carter their former star pitcher, were chock full of confidence throughout the game, which, perhaps, helped them to carry the day. Yale had first whack at the ball. De Saulles was called out on strikes and Wadsworth met the same fate only that he struck at the ball. Wear closed the inning with a bounder to Laughlin. There was a wild shout from the wearers of the crimson when Laughlin led off in Harvard's half of the first inning with a line drive past second. Laughlin, however, was nalled at second a moment later on his foolish attempt to steal. After Burgess had struck out Robinson hit to Camp, who threw high and wide to first, compelling Wadsworth to leave the bag. Sullivan threw poorly to second when Robinson started for that base, but no real damage was done, as Houghton's bounder to Hazen seat the Harvard boys to the field.

Greenway's vicious liner was stopped with one hand by Houghton in Yale's second inning and the Harvard students cheered. Wallace looked to be a sure victim on his weak infield bounder, but Fitz stuck out his hand and the ball, which was only parily stopped, rolled toward right field. Fitz didn't seen to mind such a trifling matter and putting on extra steam struck out Camp and Hazen. For Harvard, Reid filed out to Wear, Sears struck out and Lewis was thrown out at first by Camp.

Eddy opened Yale's third inning with a little fly near the plate, which Robinson ran in for. The same player took care of Sullivan's grounder. One of Fitz's inshoots grazed De Saulle's shirt, but the latter moved off first base too far and he was caught by Fitz, to Lewis. Fitz made a pretty drive to right field in Harvard's half, but he was too anxious to stretch the hit and was thrown out at third base. Chandler waited for four wide balls to pass the plate. Laughlin fouled to Sullivan and Burgess sent a sizzling liner to centre, a moment later stealing second. With two men on the bases, Robinson raised a high foul, which Hazen muffed. The error didn't help Harvard, as De Saulles stopped Robinson's bounder.

The wearers of the blue broke the ice in the fourth inning. Wadsworth, dropped to left, scorring was such as sizzling liner to centr pretty ount filled the bases, but fills grounder to De Saulies forced Reid at the plate. Chandler then struck out, and Laughlin's bounder to Camp deprived Harvard of any more runs. In the foliowing inning Yale accred another run. Eddy hit to Lewis, but the latter played lag with the ball. On Sullivan's sacrifice to the pitcher Eddy advanced to second, Ds Saulies filed to Burgess, but Wadsworth came to the rescue with a bounder over second base, and Eddy completed the circuit. Wear drew four balls, but Greenway could do no better than hit to Robinson, forcing out Wadsworth. Harvard got a player as far as second base in the fifth inning, but couldn't increase the score. Burgess fouled to blazen, but when Robinson hit a bounder to the same player, the Yale's third baseman threw low to first and the base runner got to second, only to be left, Houghton flying out to Wear and Reid being thrown out at first by Hazen.

Wallace opened the sixth inring with a single to centre, but was a victim on his attempt to steal second. Camp struck out, and liazen went out from Robinson to Lewis. Sears, Lewis, and Fitz, the only Harvard players who toed the plate in the sixth inning, were completely baffled in their attempts to solve Greenway's curves, all three striking out.

Yale's seventh inning was quickly played, Eddy being retired at his' by Laughlin, Sullivan striking out, and De Saulles flying out to Burgess. Harvard also went out in order, Chandler on a bounder to Hazen, Laughlin and Burgess on files to Wear and Greenway. Wadsworth made his third successive hit in the cighth inning. He immediately stole second. After Wear had struck out, Greenway drove the ball over Laughlin's head and Wadsworth tailled. On the throw to the plate Greenway ran down to second, but got no further, as Wallace struck out and Camp fouled to Robinson. Robinson and Houghton bit files to Camp and Hazen in Harvard's half of the inning. Reid's grounder got away from Greenway and Harvard's backston reached first, where he was loft, as Sears stood at the plate and allowed himself to be called out on strikes.

FLUSHING, July 2.—A riot was narrowly averted at the Flushing baseball grounds this afternoon, when the local nine crossed bats with the Bayside elubsix innings had been played and the Baysides were ahead. The trouble began when Eugene, a Bayside player, stole third. Gillen, the Flushings' third baseman, struck the runner without any warning, inflicting a severe wound above the eye. An angry crowd collected, and it was only through the good work of the police that a riot was prevented. Eugene will swear out a warrant for the arrest of Gillen. Billy Madden still thinks a lot of Gus Ruhlin's ability as a fighter, and is of the opinion that some day he will become a champion. After the bout between Dixon and Jordan on Friday night, Madden met "Honest John" Kelly. Kelly is a warm friend of Jim Corbett, and in the course of conversation the ex-champion's name was mentioned. "Well," said Billy, "Fil match Ruhlin against him for a tidy sum; is it a 'go'f' After some deliberation, Kelly said he thought that Corbett would like to box Ruhlin, OTHER GAMES.

Twenty-seven men and one woman started from the corner of Bedford avenue and Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, last night to ride bicycycles along the same roads over and over again, as many times as they thought themselves able to do it. Some started to ride 200 miles in twenty-four hours; others were signed for 300 miles in thirty-six hours, and others still for 400 miles to be completed in forty-eight hours. The object of the riders was to receive a medal at the end of their trip, which will in the future verify their statements to the effect that they have performed the task. The sponsor for the enterprise is the Century Road Club of America. The officers of the New York State division of the club have heretofore arranged double and riple centuries, but this year their ambition led to the announcement of a quadruple century to be ridden on July 2, 3 and 4. It is the first thing of the kind that has ever started from New York. Riders were privileged to enter for a double century, a triple, or a quadruple, as they liked. The least they could undertake was to ride 200 miles in twenty-four hours. The route for the first century is that known as the "short course," doubling in and back between Brooklyn, Mincola, Hempstead and Freeport. Anishing at the starting point on Eastern Parkway at 6 o'clock this morning. The second century starts an hour after the finish of the first and the route will be to Babylon and back to Hempstead, with loops put in between that town and Springfield. The time scheduled for the first, and at 7 o'clock Sunday night. A 7 o'clock Sunday evening the fourth starts over the course for the first, and at 7 o'clock Sunday night. A relay of extra clothing, food, restoratives, and sundries likely to be needed by the riders will be kept at the point of the start and linish. Those starting or the double century were W. H. Lange, R. C. Fullon, H. A. Obrig, P. L. Shaffer, P. D. King, and P. A. Dyer. In the triple c

Boston, July 2.—Eddle McDuffle won the cycling event of the veer at Charles River Park this afternoon by defeating Jimale Michael in the fifteen-mile paced race. An accident to the handle bar of the midget's wheel in the second apport the third mile put him out of the race and enabled McDuffle to win as he pleased. In doing so he rode as hard and as faithfully as if he had been preased by Michael, and clipped second after second off the world's records in competition as he covered mile after mile. He did the fifteen miles in 26 minutes 30 2-5 seconds, 20 3-5 seconds in 25 minutes 30 2-5 seconds, 20 3-5 seconds below the mark held by himself. Every condition was perfect. The weather was clear and cool, there was but little wind, and a crowd of over 10,000, even at the increased price of admission, was present. The result was a bitter disappointment to the multi-tude. Whether the conditions which admitted of an accident to a wheel on such an occasion as this were to blame, or whether at last resilizing that he had met his match the hitherto plucky "midget" gave up, were questions that were argued and reargued by knose present without any satisfactory conclusion being reached.

Whatever the cause, it in no way detracted from the aveclare of McDuffle's wark and

Whatever the cause, it in no way detracted from the excellence of McDuffle's work, and his performance, in consideration of the fact that he had the race practically won, brought forth the encomiums of all present. Michael won the toes and look the pole. He caught his pace first and jumped to the front. McDuffle was after him, and the first mile was a grand race. Michael loading at the tape by about fifty yards. The mile was recied off in 1 minute 46 2.5 seconds, a new record in connection. Michael made his pick-ups in faultiess shape but try as they would his pacemakers could not shake the plucky Cambridge boy, and little by little he commenced to lessen the distance between them. As the riders rounded into the stretch from the back in the second lap of the third mile Michael was noticed all at once to drop his pace and sit up. Then he started riding again, and then everybody was mystified. Soon he rode off the track and held up his hand for a new wheel, MacPuffle on the hand for a new wheel, MacPuffle was put on a new wheel, and again started off. He could not seem to get into his stride and at the tape MacDuffle lapped him, going like an express train. Michael rode around the track and when near his stand rode up on the bank. Minute after minute passed and he did not roappear. MacDuffle, taking advantage of his opportunity, called for more pace and was recling off miles close to a 1:40 clip. Of the leaders in the championship race Cooper was the only Baid, after passing the pacemaker in his heat, on the final lap took to loading, and the bunch stole a march on him. He made a terrific first toget in the finish, but it was too late. In the final Cooper won from Stevens, "Major" Taylor, and Earl Kiser in a close finish.

Washington, July 2.—Griffin Halstead, son of Murat Halstead and chief page of the House of Representatives, was dangerously injured yesterday afternoon while training for a bicycle race with Edile Hald. He collided with his pacing triplet on a turn of the track, when both machines were going at better than a 1:40 clip, and was thrown clear off the track over into the field some yardsdistant. His front teeth were all broken off at the gums, a long gash was cut in his chin, his arma, legs, and back were severely lacerated and bruised, and he was otherwise badly injured. It is said be will probably race no more. Halstead has made a great record as an amateur, and was to have entered the professional races next week.

PAST HORSES ON THE SPEEDWAY. Many Well-Known Reinsmen Let Their Flyers tie on the New Bond.

Those who expected to see a crush of ve hicles at the opening of the Speedway yester-day were disappointed. The day selected for taking down the bars found a large number of road riders out of town for Sunday and the Fourth, and the intense heat kept many others indoors or off the road. Not more than a dozen turnouts were in sight when Superintendent John Quinn gave the word at noon to let the horses pass. Before the middle of the afternoon the crowd had increased to several hundred, and toward evening the road was dotted with flying trotters all the way from the approach at 155th street to the northern end at Dyckman street. The upper section above Washington Bridge proved to be the favorite speeding ground. The roadway is nearly 100 feet wide there, stretching straightaway almost a mile to the northward without a perceptible grade or a turn. Horses and horsemen were in their element when they struck this long, level stretch of firm, springy footing, and the show of speed was a reminder to roadites of old days on Seventh avenue and the Vanderbilt mile.

Frank Work, one of the oldest of New York road drivers, was compleuous in the throng. He drove a handsome, spirited blood bay mare that looked like Barnetta. 2:15. Although the veteran horseman is in his eightieth yera, he let his trotter step as fast as the best of them, showing a pure, graceful way of going. Robert E. bonner-salied up and down the long stretch time after time, beating about all the trotters he met with his little, long-striding, ambitious bay ware. Hosea L. Perkins, one of the old guard of the road, held the reins over a black trotter that could stir up the dust at a great rate. W. R. Janvier was out with Mazourka, by Sidney, who proved to be one of the speediest mares on the driveway. H. L. Ensign drove the double-raited chestnut mare Peerless, 2:13½; William Simpson, the breeder of Bouncer, 2:13½, was in the first flight with his pacing mare, Sister Rudd; Frank Ferguson drove the old campaigner San Pedro. 2:14½, while Christopher Mooney was the boss of the road when it came to double teams.

He drove East View, 2:15¼, to pole with the green mare Sarah Ann, by Gov. Stanford, and the pair pulled two men in a wagon at a strong 2:20 clip, going right away from everything they started for. The Hussar Is Launched in the Morning and Wins to the Afternoon

For a yacht to be launched in the morning completely rigged and sail in a race during the afternoon, and moreover win it, makes an epoch in yacht-racing annals. Such, however, was the record of James D. Baird's new sloop Hussar, which was launched from Thomas L. Webber's yard at New Rochelle shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and subsequently won the trophy in her class at the annual regatta of the New Rochelle Yacht Club. which was sailed off Echo Bay yesterday afternoon. The knockabout Mongoose was also a winner, adding another pennant to her already long string by defeating the Kenosha, a new boat built by Stearns of Marblehead; the Senta of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian one-design fleet, and the Indianola, Louis R. Alberger's fiyer that lowered the colors of the Mongoose s reek age in the Indian Harbor regatta.

The race was one of the best ever held on Long Island Sound, with the exception that a little more wind would have been acceptable to the competing yachtsmen. The breeze, which was light throughout the early part of the race, dropped away to a dead calm during the last round and the greater number of beats drifted across the finish line. Toward the end of the race a breeze sprang up from the southward and wafted the last of the first across the line in ample time for the celebration that was pre-pared by the "Rocking Chair" fleet and their race a Dreeze sprang up from the southward and watted the last of the feet across the line in ample time for the celebration that was prepared by the "Rocking Chair" fleet and their guests.

Before the boats got the starting signal a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Long Island Yacht-Racing Association was held for the purpose of deciding upon the protest filed last week against the new Herrschoff catboat Wanda. According to the protest the Wanda did not conform to the restrictions of a cabin boat as defined by the union. After mature deliberation the council decided in favor of the boat, denying the protest. The decision was an important one, and if the objection had been upbeid it would have affected more than ifty new boats. The consensus of opinion among the yachtsmen was that the decision was a just one.

The preparatory signal was at 12:30 o'clock and five minutes later the Banshee was started alone in the first division. At 12:40 o'clock the second division was sent away, the New Hussar in the lead, the Daisy second, and the others passed in this order: Margaret, Pontiac, Anoatok, Bingo, Fidelio, John F, Carroll, Twilight and Jane S. The third division crossed in the following order: Akabo, with the gun; Gold Bug, Veneu, Edwina H, Cambrian, Emyzol, Fiddler and Bounie Bairn. The fourth division started in this order: Volung, Isa, Dosoris H, Wanda, Grace, Win or Lose, Kit, Dot, Shippan and Amos, In the fifth division the Minnetonka and Sora went away almost together, followed by the Lark and Viking. The knockabouts crossed in this order: Senta, Mongoose, Indianolo and Kenosha.

The wind was light from the cast at the start and the yachts of the first, second and seventh divisions sailed a triangle, having for outer marks the Gangway buoy and the Old Hen buoy at the westerly entrance to Hempstead Harbor, leaving these marks on the port hand. This course was sailed twice around, a total distance of 14% miles.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Pliete the Veda to Victory. NEWPORT, July 2.-The fleet of 30-footers began their season's racing in Narragansett bay to day, five boats starting. The Veda, owned by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., won by 58 seconds over the Wa Wa. It was a grand day for racing, there being a strong southerly breeze. The Dyers Island course was selected. making the first leg a run up the bay eight miles and a best home. The start was made from Brenton's Cove at 2:50 o'clock, the boats crossing well bunched, with the Wa Wa a trifle astern. Spinnakers were set to port, and after clearing Rose Island the boats squared away for the mark, the Carolina and Veda taking turns in the lead. The former rounded the mark turns in the lead. The former rounded the mark first at 3:51:20, followed by the Veda, Wa Wa, Dorothy II., and Vaquero III. After rounding, the boats headed for the Newport shore but after a series of short tacks all started across the bay with the excention of the Carolina, which thus lost the only chance she might have had of winning. It was pretty work between the Veda and Wa Wa, but by clever work Vanderbilt kept his boat in the windward position, and for the first time since she has sailed in these waters he bloted her across the line a winner. During the race the Dorothy II. grounded twice because she stood too close in shore. All the heats were handed by their owners, Mrr. Whitney, Mrs. Duryen, and Mrs. Jones sailed with their husbands, and James A. Stillman was in the Wa Wa. Summary:

BAINBOW'S OCEAN RACE.

Schooper's Trip from Dover to Heligoland

The new Watson schooner, Rainbow, owned by C. Orr-Ewing, M. P., has begun her first race and although her performance will be watched by yachtsmen all over the world. As no American built schooner will sail over the course in consort, comparatively no line can be drawn as to the relative speed of the new boat with any American craft. It was expected that the noted schooner Yampa, which was sold by R. Suydam Palmer, N. Y. Y. C., to the German Emperor, would sail over the course from Dover to Heligoland, and although she is far in ferior to such flyers as Clarence Postley's Colonia, flagship of the Larchmont Y. C., or J. Rogers Maxwell's Emerald, some idea of the relative speed of the new craft could be ob tained. American yachts are not eligible for the Heligoland cup, which was designed and presented by the German Emperor for a yearly contest, open to all cruising yachts belonging to any royal or recognized yacht club, built in the royal or recognized yacht club, built in the United ¼ingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, of fifty tons (Thames measurement) and upward and owned by a British subject.

The course is from off the Admiralty pier, Dover, to the Saturn Buoy, on the south side of the island of Heligoland, leaving all lighthouses on the Dutch and German coast on the starboard hand. Four schooners, two yawls and one cuter started in the race and the Rainbow led, as far as could be discorned from the English coast. She, however, being the largest vessel in the race, allows as follows, the distance being 320 nautical miles:
Charmian 4 hours: Latons, 5 hours 30 minutes

The ocean race from Dover to Heligoland is The ocean race from Dover to Heligoland is the most important yachting event of the year on the other side of the Atlantic, and this year additional interest is aroused in the centest for the reason that it again brings the schooner riginto prominence. In the past, schooners held the premier position in yacht racing, and the names of such vessels as America, Cambria, Livonia, Alarm, Aline, Egeria, Cotonia, and Amphirrite have made history in yachting that will last as long as the sport.

It is fully ten years ago that schooner racing practically ceased. For the past four years is capally through grand contests in which Colonia, Emerald, Quisetta, and Amorita have been the principals.

nia, Emoraid, Quisetta, and Amorita have been the principals.

It was not until the début of the Rainbow that owners of schooners could be prevailed upon to race their craft against the mors popular cutter on the other side. The Rainbow is practically an experiment by which Designer Watson hopes to learn whether or not it is possible to build a schooner that will outmatch such speedy cutters as Britannia, Meteor, and Bona under the existing rules. Should the Rainbow come up to the hopes of her designer it is possible that British yachtsmen will make the next attempt to recapture the America's Cup with a two-masted vessel,
